

Having only one broadband provider to choose from I welcome any technology that will spur competition and lower prices to consumers.

I am lucky to have broadband many communities may not be large enough for one of the current broadband providers to bother with. By allowing Broadband Over Power Line technology the broadband will be available to almost all Americans.

I urge the FCC to move quickly in allowing Broadband Over Power Line to become a reality.

Sincerely,

Scott D. McIntire